GRANNY MARTHA PUTS GRANDCHILD'S NUDE PIC ON THE INTERNET!

MARTHA STEWART may be the Domestic Diva - but she's also a Digital Dingbat!

The so-called Guru of Good Taste created a backlash after she posted a TOTALLY NUDE photo of her 4-year-old granddaughter on her Twitter account.

And she has a whopping 3.03 MILLION followers on the social media Web site!

"What was Martha thinking?" asks one L.A.-based showbiz source. "These days, this kind of picture is an absolute no-no!"

The image shows Jude - the elder of Martha's two grandkids by daughter Alexis - sitting on the floor doing artwork. Her back is turned to the camera, revealing her bare bottom.

"Jude looks great with her long blond hair braided - art session at 8:45," the multimillionaire media mogul wrote on a caption posted with the photograph.

Reaction was fast and furious. "Really? Posting naked pictures of a child on Twitter? Really?????"

responded one stunned follower.

Another blasted, "Any idiot knows

WHAT WAS SHE THINKING?

you can't put naked pics of kids on the Internet."

And a third wrote, "Please place proper clothing on this child."

Martha, 73, got the message and deleted the image about 15 minutes after she posted it. And she tweeted an apology, saying, "Sorry I thought I cropped the photo - we are on vacation!"

Unlike some other Web sites, Twitter says it doesn't "mediate content" but suggests that in some cases, such as nudity, "using common sense won't steer you wrong."

Martha later deleted her apology message too, apparently opting for a state of denial by acting as though the whole thing never happened. She then posted a photo of what looks like a remote tropical island, saying, "Resting with this view..."

Martha's grandchildren, Jude and 3-year-old Truman, were born by way of surrogate to Alexis, a 49-year-old TV and radio personality. Quite frankly, they've been one of the few bright spots of the troubled lifestyle maven's golden years.

Her love life evaporated when tech billionaire Charles Simonyi dumped her in 2008 after a 15-year relationship and wed a younger Swedish heiress.

Five years before that, she famously was caught in an insider trading stock deal. She was eventually given a five-month prison sentence and five months of home confinement, plus a $30,000 fine and two years' probation.

After her nude photo faux pas, the source says, "Hopefully, Martha has learned her lesson and knows this is NOT a good thing!"

HOLLYWOOD INSULTS MARILYN MONROE!

MARILYN MONROE is one of the greatest stars in movie history, but Tinseltown's dissing her big time.

Folks around the world are outraged Monroe's star on Hollywood's Walk of Fame – outside a busy burger joint – is filthy and covered with spilled food and drinks. The commemorative plaque is virtually impossible for tourists to photograph, critics claim.

Now fans are campaigning online to pressure the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce to have Marilyn's memorial moved to a more suitable spot.

Major star

"She deserves not to be in front of the most disgusting McDonald's in the greater L.A. area," fumes one fan in the City of Angels.

Another poster from Australia writes, "Marilyn is a major star and deserves a more respectful and appropriate position on the Walk of Fame. Grauman's Chinese Theatre was very important to Marilyn" and her star should be moved there. Right now, her handprints and footprints are in cement outside the landmark.

And a British fan writes, "Marilyn deserves the best. I've just returned from L.A. and was unable to even photograph her star due to its unsavory location," which is flanked by the stars of Arsenio Hall and Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Hollywood's Walk of Fame was launched in 1958 with 1,558 celebs immortalized in the first 18 months. A mass dedication was held on Feb. 8, 1960, but Monroe did not attend the ceremony marking her star – located at 6774 Hollywood Boulevard.

Now Hollywood tour operator Scott Michaels is spearheading the crusade to relocate her tile to Grauman's, which he says was "one of Monroe's favorite places." Certainly, the theater's courtyard is a Who's Who of Hollywood heavyweights.

More than 175 superstars hand and footprints – including Monroe, Clark Gable, Bette Davis, Jimmy Stewart, Bob Hope, Judy Garland, Paul Newman and Elizabeth Taylor – are enshrined at one of the most popular tourist attractions in the world.

Says an Internet post, "Marilyn Monroe is a true icon and contributed so much to cinema history. She, more than anyone else, deserves to have a star in a worthy location."

KATE'S LITTLE P

REVEALED! Her baby's incredible ultrasound im

AS Prince William and his beautiful wife, Kate, eagerly await the birth of their second child, GLOBE has a bombshell world exclusive – the first photo of their unborn baby!

And it shows 21-month-old Prince George will be welcoming a little sister!

Kate, 33, who's expected to give birth in three weeks, sent the incredible ultrasound image to family and close friends – but it leaked out, revealing the baby's adorable face.

The sensational ultrasound photo is one of the new 3-D lifelike images and it's "so wonderfully beautiful," insiders say

Kate couldn't resist the temptation to share it with her nearest and dearest.

"But the royals are baffled about how it got out into the public," GLOBE's source reveals.

Sources say a woman friend of Kate's is behind the leak as a way of twisting the knife in 67-year-old Camilla, who has been so unrelenting in attacking the Duchess of Cambridge for so many years.

"Camilla pretends to share Kate's joy over a sibling for little George, but inwardly she's boiling as she sees Kate looking radiant and getting all the adulation and attention," says an insider.

Kate has Diana on her list of baby names

"Kate's pal knew that when the ultrasound was published for all to see how gorgeous and lifelike the Princess appeared Camilla wouldn't be able to stand it."

The friend knew Kate would never have leaked it herself, so decided to be the one to get the image out there, the source says.

Meanwhile, a new battle has erupted – over naming the tiny Princess.

Kate has included her mom's name, Carole, and William's mother's name, Diana, on the list they're considering. But that's sparked a furious row with Prince Charles, say insiders.

New baby

"Charles can't stand Carole Middleton," says an insider. "He thinks she's meddlesome, controlling and wielding far too much influence over William, who calls her husband, Michael, 'Dad.' It drives Charles mad."

"And he accuses Carole of keeping his grandson, George,

"He's vowed the new baby will have 'Carole' in her name over his dead body!"

Meanwhile, Charles has told William he opposes naming the baby Diana, in honor of her tragic grandmother who died in a shocking 1997 car wreck in Paris, France.

"Even though Charles and Camilla's marriage remains stormy, neither of them want to see Diana as part of the baby's name," says the insider.

"With Charles' nasty public divorce from Diana being blamed on his longtime affair with Camilla, it's not surprising they're trying to keep her name off the list."

In the end, say sources, it will be William and Kate's decision.

And don't be surprised if Elizabeth is chosen in honor of the ailing Monarch, who's been working to ensure that William, 32, is the next King and Kate his Queen.

Says the insider, "The Queen is Kate's greatest ally in the place and Kate is her devout admirer."

CELEBRITY GUT CHECK!

UMA THURMAN'S belly turns to JELLY!

Ironically, even when Uma Thurman was rail-thin, she thought she was overweight! When the statuesque 6-foot-tall actress tipped the scales at just 129, she revealed she started suffering from a psychological condition called body dysmorphic disorder. It began after she gave birth to her daughter Maya Ray in 1998, and in a 2000 interview, the Kill Bill beauty confessed, "I see myself as fat," even though she was skinny. Well, she still isn't really fat, but looking at her in a bikini, you could say her fear may be coming true.

THEN

JOSH BROLIN lets it all HANG OUT!

Suck it up, man! Unless Josh Brolin is getting ready to play a pregnant dude or Buddha, we'd have to say that his belly has gotten out of control. Brolin once carried 176 pounds on his 5-foot-10 frame, but it appears he's become a more well-rounded person. No stranger to yo-yo dieting, the 47-year-old actor once gained 28 pounds in 10 days for a movie role - then lost 22 in less than three days! Time to hit the gym again, Bub!

DAVID CARUSO goes from FAB TO FLAB!

Former CSI: Miami star David Caruso should file a missing hunk report! The once-slender redhead may be beaching it in South Florida, but he seems to have enough blubber to keep him warm in the Arctic. Six-foot-tall Caruso, 59, used to tip the scales at a healthy 165, but those days are clearly long gone. Along with his looks, the actor's career has gone MIA - he hasn't worked since CSI went off the air in 2012. Maybe he should shoot a pilot for a new take on one of his old shows and call it NYPD Blob!

LIAM NEESON'S DRUG NIGHTMARE!

LIAM NEESON is said to be heart-broken over the drug hell his son endured following the bizarre ski accident death of the boy's mother six years ago.

Micheal Neeson, the action star's first-born son with his tragic wife Natasha Richardson, says he didn't even realize he was abusing drugs in an effort to kill the pain of his loss.

'Delayed reaction'

At the time, the troubled youngster thought, "I was going out, partying a lot, looking for self-gratification," he confesses. Micheal, now 19, says, "I wanted to be the man, doing these drugs."

"Everybody else said, 'This kid has just lost his mom, that's where the problem comes from.' And I was like, 'No, I just like to party.'"

"But, looking back, I now realize it was a delayed reaction."

During his drug daze, Micheal was spending more time with pals than his famous father, who was also struggling to come to terms with Natasha's sudden death after hitting her head on a Canadian ski slope.

"Knowing Liam, Micheal's problems must have broken his heart," says a friend. "He's very protective of his sons. He's heart-sick they lost their mother in such a tragic way."

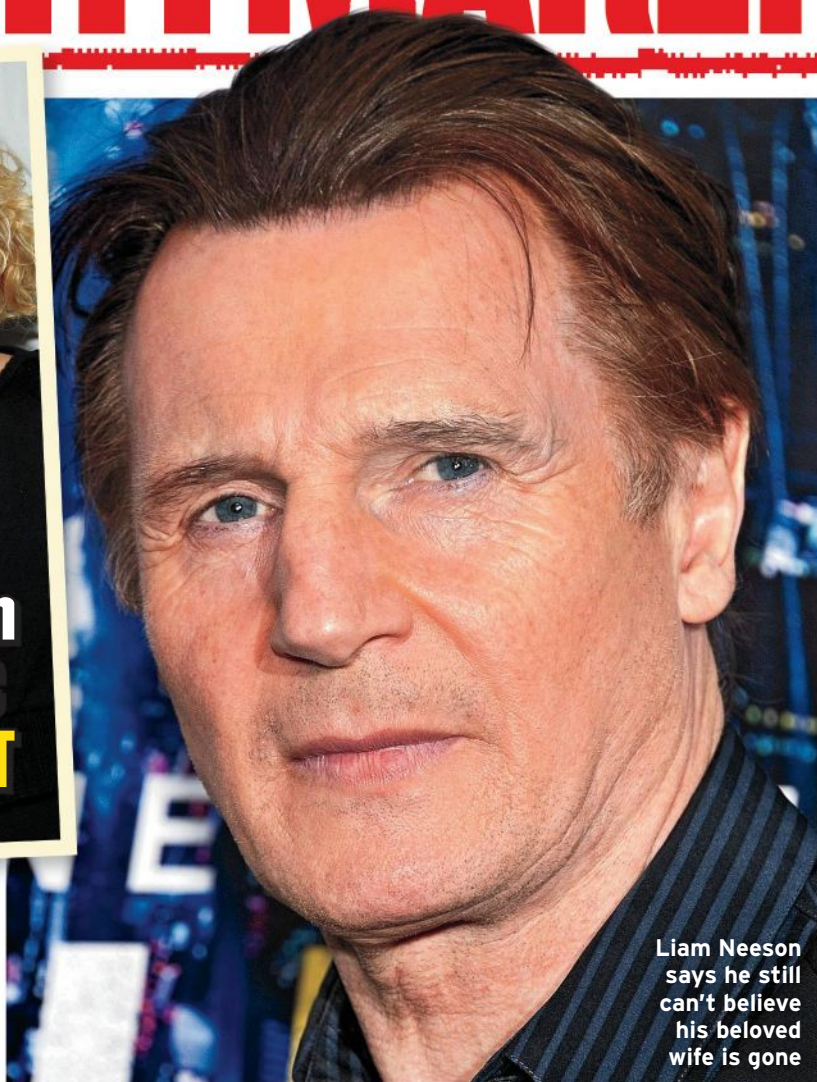

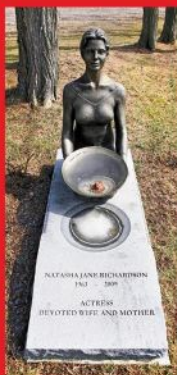

Micheal says he finally "hit rock bottom" in 2014 and checked into rehab. Now, he's working in a fashion gallery and credits his dad and 18-year-old brother Daniel Micheal was just 13 in March 2009 when helmetless Natasha took a tumble at Quebec's Mont Tremblant. She hit her head but felt all right and returned to her hotel room. A few hours later, she complained of a headache and was taken to the hospital. Sadly, the 45-year-old actress had torn a blood vessel in her brain, which proved to be fatal.

Liam, who'd been shooting a movie in Toronto, says he was stunned to arrive at the hospital and discover his wife of 14 years was brain dead.

"She was on life support," recalls the Taken action hero. "I went to her and told her I loved her, and said, 'Sweetie, you're not coming back from this.'"

Liam, 62, admits he still can't believe it.

Her death "was never real," he says. "It still kind of isn't. There are periods now in our New York residence when I hear the door opening...I still think I'm going to hear her."

"It hits you like a wave, and then it passes."

Got a problem?
I want to help

DEBBIE REYNOLDS GIVES ADVICE FROM THE HEART

My wife doesn't trust me

Q: My wife has trust issues that have gotten out of hand. I do a lot of traveling for my job, and she's always checking up on me by calling and texting me, asking what I'm doing and what my plans are. Once, she even flew out to where I was to surprise me in my hotel room. It wasn't because she missed me but rather she wanted to make sure I wasn't shacking up with another woman. Meanwhile, I've never been unfaithful and have no inclinations in that direction. How can I convince her to trust me more?

- G.L., NORTH HEMPSTEAD, N.Y.

A: Trust is earned even with the most insecure partners. Some might be flattered by all the attention your wife gives you, but it is misplaced. Ask her to consider going to therapy with you to help her regain her trust in you. Her behavior comes from deep insecurity and abandonment issues.

I've brewed up a growing problem

Q: A few years back, I bought my husband a beer-making kit for the holidays. At the time, it seemed a perfect gift for a guy who enjoyed trying all varieties of craft beers. But I've created a monster.

A few words for...Harrison Ford

THE Force was with Star Wars icon Harrison Ford when he crashed his vintage World War II airplane onto a golf course in Southern California a few weeks ago.

Because Harrison is such an experienced flyer, he knew how to land that plane even though the engine failed shortly after take-off. When we heard about the accident, we were all concerned. My daughter Carrie (who plays Princess Leia in the hit sci-fi film series) thought the accident may be a Star Wars curse because she had a small fender-bender just a few days before Harrison's crash. And she'd never had a car accident before. Carrie believes that things happen in threes and was worried another member of the cast might have an accident. Meanwhile, she recalls how Harrison would sometimes ask her if she'd rather go flying with him or have a beer together, because he would never fly after drinking. After his crash, Carrie sent him a case of beer with a note saying, "Next time have a beer."

He brews most every weekend, has joined a home-brewers club and put on about 20 pounds, most of it in his gut. Now, I realize my thoughtful gift has not only been bad for his health but also our relationship because he has less time to spend with me. Beer has become his primary avocation. Unfortunately, I don't have the same enthusiasm for it, and I find us growing apart over it. What's a wife to do?

- J.L., LAFAYETTE, LA.

A: Give your husband a gym membership for his next birthday. Brewing can be a fun hobby, but the side effects don't sound healthy. Maybe you can participate in his brewing days by making some healthy snacks for your husband and his pals and asking them to bring their wives along. If you can't beat 'em, join 'em!

Our son is seeing a much older lady

LETTER OF THE WEEK

Q: My 22-year-old son has started seeing a neighbor who is a 42-year-old divorcee with two teenage children. At first, I figured it was just a passing fancy for him and he'd soon tire of her. But the opposite has happened and now he's talking about moving in with her. Truth is, my husband and I still support him and we don't feel he's ready for this type of relationship. He's very defensive about it and has even said he doesn't need us anymore. My husband had a talk with the woman, who says she really loves our son and that he loves her. At this point, we don't know what to do. Can you offer us some advice?

- J.J., LINCOLN, NEB.

A: Help him pack. At 22, he's old enough to make his own decisions. If this relationship is a mistake, he'll find out soon enough. Don't hold onto him because of his age or other issues. This woman wants his affection, so let him go. It will be interesting to see how her teenagers feel about this situation.

How do we deal with mean-spirited teasing?

Q: Our son is 9 years old and a very sweet and bright child. But he's been having a bit of a problem with one of his classmates who keeps teasing him about being chubby and wearing glasses. It's not really bullying, but it does bother our boy and I want to talk to his teacher about it. However, my husband believes our son needs to learn how to deal with these types of things on his own and recommended that he tease the boy back about one of his own shortcomings. Do you think this is a good idea or are we better putting the issue in the hands of school authorities?

- R.M., CANTON, MICH.

A: You're both right. If your son has a problem with other schoolmates, the teacher should know. He also needs some coping skills, but teasing this boy back is not the answer. He'll be better off turning this teaser into a friend. Have him bring the other boy home to meet you for pizza and a movie or a game night. Being a kid isn't easy, so continue to support him as much as possible.

WHAT HAPPENED TO REGIS?

REGIS PHILBIN has traded in his easy-going growing-old-gracefully features to look like a mad professor.

As this shocking photo (far right) reveals, the former Live co-host appears nothing like his ruggedly handsome self, causing double takes on New York's streets.

"Regis was almost unrecognizable," says one. "He was grinning like a Cheshire cat and looked bizarre."

Experts believe the TV star, 84, has had surgery to turn back time - and it backfired big time!

Philadelphia cosmetic surgeon Dr. Lyle Back was struck by Reege's frozen grin.

"A grimace-like smile fixed on the faces of poison victims in the autopsy rooms is referred to as 'Rictus Grin,'" he tells GLOBE. "The plastic surgery counterpart may become known as 'Regis Grin.'"

To top it all off, adds Back, "The wild hair style is an exclamation point on an over-pulled, creepy smile-making face-lift, with eyelids hoisted to the 'I've seen a ghost' level, and a new set of Chiclet choppers. Regis has abandoned his identity."

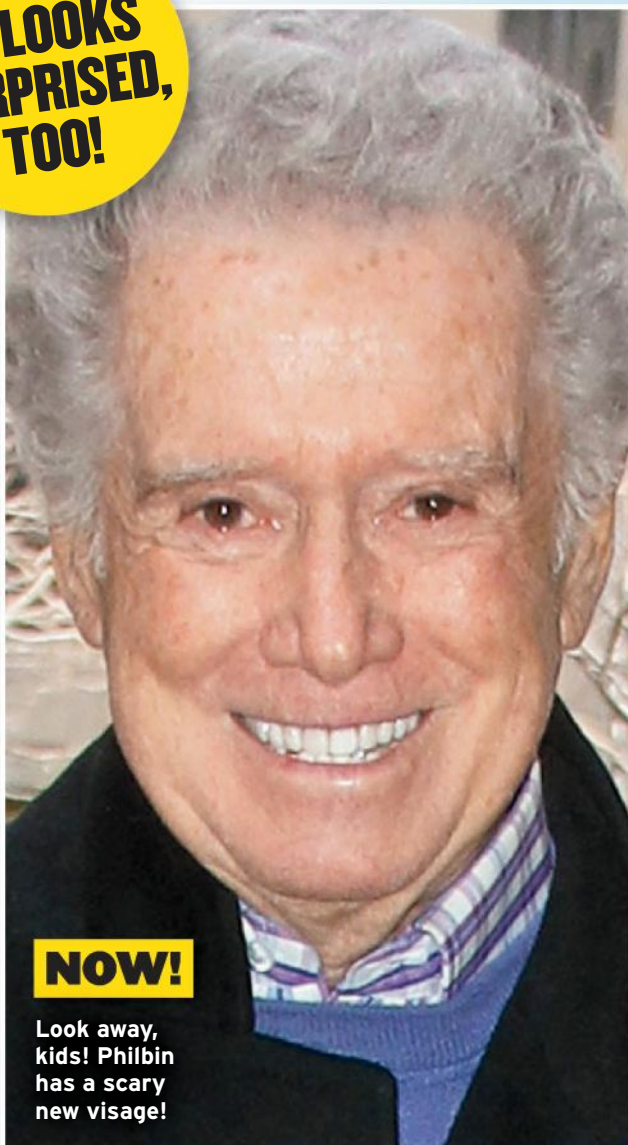

But Celebrity plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn of Troy, Mich., says Reege's smooth pale skin is an improvement. It may be due to chemical peels and "well-performed Botox injections."

HE LOOKS SURPRISED, TOO!

THEN

Gone is Reege's handsome natural appearance

NOW!

Look away, kids! Philbin has a scary new visage!

'PYTHON' FEUD IS PURE POISON!

MONTY PYTHON's Michael Palin is branding co-stars John Cleese and Eric Idle as "difficult" - and his accusations make a reunion nearly impossible!

During a TV appearance, Palin revealed Cleese and Idle were raging egomaniacs, which opened a rift because he and Terry Jones were laid back.

"The trouble with stars is they can be a bit difficult," says a very bitter Palin, 71. He insists Cleese and Idle "wanted to go on holidays in Barbados and all that," while he and Jones "were just happy going to have a pint at the pub."

And things got so bad, Cleese demanded the right to approve every joke that got into a "Python" script, says Palin.

Now insiders say the poisonous outburst will make for an awkward face-to-face meeting during the Monty Python 40th Anniversary Tribute at New York's Tribeca Film Festival on April 24.

While the stars will likely show up for the event, a "Python" movie or TV reunion will probably never happen, says Palin. In another vicious dig, he claims Cleese, 75, made it perfectly clear in his "overpriced autobiography" that "he wasn't really keen to do a lot more" Monty Python.

SOAP'S SEXY MOM EXPOSED AS A MAN!

A SHOCKING new sex swap story line – the first of its kind on daytime TV – has fans of The Bold & the Beautiful outraged!

In a daring twist viewers never saw coming, the CBS soap revealed curvy model Maya Ivant – played by Karla Mosley – was born a male and is a transgender woman!

One nagging little problem, though – Maya gave birth to a baby, which would have been physically impossible if she started out life as a male!

The incredible bombshell came March 18 from her TV sister, Nicole (Reign Edwards) during a furious argument.

Karla Mosley and Jacob Young play Maya Ivant and Rick Forrester in a 'B&B' bedroom scene

Bold & Beautiful fans cry foul over BIZARRE STORY LINE

before they thought. Did they expect us just to forget the past?"

Says an insider, "Producers thought they had a surefire winner with this groundbreaking story line but it's backfired on them.

"They really went all out throwing red herrings all over the place so fans thought Nicole would be Maya's daughter!

"They managed to talk Karla into doing it, but some fans are outraged.

"Producers thought they'd get a pass – it's 'B&B' after all, campy and over the top and set in L.A. But middle America has spoken loud and clear. They hate it! No wonder producers are nervously holding secret meetings with writers to try to pull this out of the fire."

While executive producer and head writer Bradley Bell says the story line is about "love" and "tolerance," Mosley, 33, admits the show faces a backlash and outcry.

"Boycotts are possible," she says, but adds she hopes they can open some minds closed to the idea.

"My first reaction to the story line was surprise, because 10 or 20 years ago, this is not a story we would be telling."

AWARD-WINNING actress Jane Seymour has been creating art her entire life, but the beauty's talent remained hidden until her work was noticed on the set of Dr. Quinn: Medicine Woman and her painting career took off.

One of her early works sold for $25,000 at a Make a Wish Foundation auction to help dying kids' dreams come true. Since then she's raised over $1 million from "my art work alone."

Her are 10 more things you didn't know about the former James Bond vixen.

10 THINGS ABOUT JANE SEYMOUR

1. Born Joyce Penelope Wilhelmina Frankenberg, Seymour chose her stage name because it "scanned nicely and rolled trippingly from the tongue." She insists she did not name herself after King Henry VIII's third wife.

2. She dreamed of becoming a ballerina and trained hard for years until a knee injury ended her career at age 17.

3. Her Dutch mother Mieke was held in a Japanese prison camp for three-and-a-half years during World War II. Her courage inspired Seymour's Open Hearts Foundation.

4. Seymour had a near-death experience in 1988 in Madrid, Spain, after she received a bungled injection and went into shock. "I left my body," she says. "When I looked up, I saw a white light. I remember saying, 'I'm not ready to die yet.'"

5. In 2005, the 64-year-old British-born beauty became a U.S. citizen.

6. In a bid to keep her everlasting good looks, the TV mini-series queen had cosmetic surgery, which she admits.

7. She has one green eye and one brown eye.

8. At age 54, the demure actress bared her breasts on camera for the first time in the 2005 blockbuster movie comedy Wedding Crashers.

9. She has been married four times and has four biological children.

10. Her twin sons Johnny and Kris, now 19, were named after close family friends Johnny Cash and Christopher Reeve.

TV SHARK HERJAVEC'S SUICIDE NIGHTMARE

Robert Herjavec and wife Diane

SHARK TANK multi-millionaire Robert Herjavec reveals he was so shattered by the end of his marriage last July he almost leapt from a Toronto hotel balcony and ended his fairy-tale life!

But the 52-year-old Croatian-born immigrant banished his demons on the advice of his minister, who urged the rags-to-riches success to spend time on Seattle's mean streets. Herjavec spent nearly three weeks working at the Union Gospel Mission's soup kitchen helping people who'd hit rock bottom and had nothing left. "And these people saved my life - I was hollow and broken," says Herjavec.

After he and Diane Plese ended their 24-year marriage, Herjavec's adult kids wouldn't speak to him.

"That was totally devastating," says Herjavec, who is partners with Kym Johnson on the current season of Dancing with the Stars. "It took me to a place I never thought I'd go."

Now he's back on top of the world but hasn't forgotten who helped him. He brings food to the homeless and has donated about 100,000 pairs of socks.

DURST CRIME SCENE PHOTOS!

KILLER WHO BUTCHERED NEIGHBOR FACING NEW
MURDER TRIAL AFTER
CHILLING TV CONFESSION

'He's a monster capable of anything'

Killer Robert Durst is back behind bars after being arrested in New Orleans

Victim Morris Black was 71 when he was slaughtered. His severed limbs were found in a black trash bag

CANDID crime scene photos prove Robert Durst is a black-hearted monster and experts say the awful images should bolster the case against the billionaire when he stands trial in California for the 2000 murder of a galpal.

Durst was finally arrested for the execution-style killing of Susan Berman after chilling revelations emerged during the taping of an explosive HBO documentary series, The Jinx: The Life and Deaths of Robert Durst.

Shocking police photos obtained by GLOBE reveal how a neighbor killed by Durst met a gruesome end. The pictures document the bagged severed limbs of Durst's 71-year-old neighbor, Morris Black, who he shot dead in Galveston, Texas, in September 2001. Cops believe the fiend killed Black to steal his identity. Durst has maintained it was self-defense.

The gruesome evidence from the slaying also includes a gun, a bullet hole in the wall of Durst's low-rent apartment and Black's torso, which was found floating in Galveston Bay. Durst used a saw to cut up his victim's body in a desperate attempt to hide the killing.

'Remorseless'

Pennsylvania detective Kenneth L. Mains, a national expert on cold cases, tells GLOBE, "These grisly crime scene photos are a reminder of how Robert Durst is a remorseless killer, period. They show he's a monster capable of anything."

Incredibly, though Durst admitted he killed Black and confessed to dismembering his body, jurors cleared him of murder, buying his claim of self-defense.

He escaped ALL punishment because prosecutors didn't charge him with a lesser charge, such as manslaughter or even abusing a corpse.

And it looked like he was one step ahead of the law until FBI agents busted him in the lobby of a New Orleans hotel on suspicion of Berman's cold-case murder. The arrest came on the eve of the final episode of filmmaker Andrew Jarecki's six-part TV documentary.

The series caught the creepy 71-year-old going into a bathroom, still wearing a wireless microphone and apparently unaware the →

HELL HOUSE

The crime scene was a rundown Galveston, Texas, building where Durst rented a shabby apartment

THE SMOKING GUN

The weapon used in the killing was found in Durst's car device was picking up his every word. Chilling audio captured him rambling to himself, "There it is. You're caught. What the hell did I do? Killed them all, of course."

Writer Berman was shot once in the back of the head shortly before she was due to speak with detectives about the 1982 disappearance of Durst's first wife, Kathie. Durst's wife vanished from their South Salem, N.Y., vacation home. He's suspected of killing her, too.

At the beginning of the Berman investigation, the murderer sent cops a letter saying they'd find a "cadaver" at her home in "Beverly Hills." The note was written in block letters and "Beverly" was misspelled.

The documentary's producers obtained a letter Durst sent to Berman a year before her death that also misspelled Beverly in the same way and had similar block lettering. They confronted Durst with the damning document on camera before his apparent confession.

But as GLOBE revealed in the March 9 issue, it wasn't the first time in the series that Durst had incriminated himself.

Asked about the disappearance of his wife, he commented, "I am complicit in (Kathie) not being here."

Filmmaker
Andrew
Jarecki

He also admitted he'd lied about having a drink with a neighbor before putting Kathie on a train so she could return to Manhattan where they had an apartment. He confessed he also lied about talking to Kathie by phone in the hours immediately after she left South Salem.

The multimillionaire seemed happy with his wife, Kathie, (above) and friend Susan Berman (below) but is believed to have killed them both

His remarks during 25 hours of interviews taped for the series prompted investigators to reveal they were watching the show "very carefully."

LAPD sources say information from the series was a major factor behind Durst's New Orleans arrest.

Insiders believe Durst, the eldest son of the late New York real estate mogul Seymour Durst, was preparing to flee to Cuba at the time he was collared.

Durst was armed and carrying $42,000 in cash, a fake passport and other false documents when he was arrested. Plus, he had a life-like latex mask to disguise his face. But instead of going to Cuba, he's now is heading for a possible date with the executioner.

Jeanine Pirro, a former D.A. from Westchester, N.Y. who had reopened the Kathie Durst case in 2000, believes cops have enough evidence against him to nail him for Berman's murder.

"I think that they clearly have enough now. California definitely does," she said. "My instincts tell me that everybody realizes there appears to be sufficient evidence to go before a grand jury in California, and Robert Durst knows it."

Durst family members, worth an estimated $4 billion combined, had been granted 13 orders of protection against him.

His younger brother Douglas Durst has labeled his sibling "a true psychopath."

He declared, "We hope he will finally be held accountable for all he has done."

Experts say Durst's dream team of lawyers will be desperate to keep the photo evidence – as well as clues gathered in the murder of his wife – out of his California trial, but won't succeed.

Detective Mains, founder and president of the American Investigative Society of Cold Cases (AISOC), a group of ace forensic and scientific specialists, tells GLOBE, "Bobby Durst's good luck streak is over."

"The jury will show no mercy for this creep who had all the money in the world but a heart of stone."

PAM ANDERSON'S DIVORCE FROM HELL!

Hubby brands beauty a 'BABY KILLER' as she claims DOMESTIC ABUSE

SOME people just aren't meant for marriage – like Pamela Anderson and her estranged hubby Rick Salomon.

Both have proven to be incapable of maintaining domestic bliss with multiple spouses – and each other twice!

Now, the former lovebirds are at each other's throats, casting accusations in court ranging from “baby killer” to attempted strangler.

Onetime Baywatch babe Anderson, 47, was reportedly granted a restraining order against Salomon, also 47, after claiming he flew into a rage while they were having sex and tried to smother her with a pillow. Her legal documents add he called her nasty names, including “slut” and “crack whore.”

Salomon, a professional poker player whose biggest claim to fame

Rick Salomon and Pam Anderson look stressed out as they stroll through Hawaii earlier this year is making a sex tape with Paris Hilton, fired back by filing for an annulment on the grounds that Anderson allegedly had an abortion.

In court documents, the blonde bombshell claims Salomon sent her a message saying he didn't know “she was a serial baby killer” and “should be locked up.”

Sex tape

Incredibly, this is the third time Anderson has filed for divorce from Salomon since they tied the knot in January 2014. They previously wed in 2007, but that union was annulled after four months.

Before that, Anderson married heavy metal drummer Tommy Lee and made an infamous sex tape with him. She was also wed to musician Kid Rock for four months in 2006.

Salomon married Rugrats voice actress Elizabeth Daily in 1995, and the five-year union produced two daughters. He later had a stormy seven-month marriage to 90210 vixen Shannen Doherty.

Meanwhile, the hostility in this latest bustup has reached fever pitch. Salomon reportedly insists he doesn't want to give Anderson any of his $16 million fortune, and she was said to have unceremoniously booted his two daughters and his dog from her Malibu home.

Stay tuned. No doubt the worst is yet to come!

I'LL LOVE BEING OUT OF WORK!

JON HAMM has been living in a time-warp as 1960s ad agency head, Don Draper, but now the hunk is about to be set free after the final episodes of the hit AMC series Mad Men air this spring.

The 44-year-old Golden Globe winner says he's ready for the next chapter in his life – after a long nap.

In this interview with a freelance journalist, Hamm, who lives with his girlfriend of 17 years, Jennifer Westfeldt, 45, talks about losing his parents, his passion, staying grounded and superheroes.

Mad Man Jon with January Jones and TV daughter Kiernan Shipka

Q: Are you sad that this will be Mad Men's last season?

A: Yes, very sad. It's almost painful for me because all the people I've had the pleasure of working with have been the single constant in my creative life for the last decade. So that's tough.

Q: Are you happy with how the show ends?

A: If you don't have an ending of a story, you can't go to bed. And we have a good ending, so I can go to bed.

Q: The show made you a star, but you stayed grounded. How did you manage that?

A: Success came to me fairly late in life. And I had a good upbringing. I was never raised to be too cocky or arrogant. My mother wouldn't have it.

Q: You lost your mother, Deborah, to cancer when you were 10. How did that affect you?

THE BIG INTERVIEW

JON HAMM

A: It was incredibly hard to watch. Life really does a number on you. I watched my mom shrivel up at 35.

Q: Yet she continues to have a great impact on you. You even dedicated a scholarship at your old school in her name...

A: My mother was a force of nature. She never had much, but she always – both my parents – always wanted me to get the best education, the best opportunities.

Q: You went into therapy after your dad, Dan, died 10 years later, right?

A: It was a rough time. I was in college and I had to start over again. I started drinking. I was at a crossroads. It really could have gone the other way.

Q: How do you feel being compared to old-time Hollywood stars like Cary Grant and Rock Hudson?

Jon and galpal Jennifer Westfeldt stroll with their pooch in L.A.

A: It's an absolute honor. I couldn't ask for a better compliment. And the funny thing is that a lot of times I feel like an old Hollywood actor. I like to watch (the kind of) films that are not being made any more. I'm not one for flying superheroes.

Q: You've proven that success is possible if you are patient. Is that one of your strengths?

A: Look, being patient was not by choice necessarily. I made very little money in my 30s. I tried several things, and they didn't work out. But I'm a very passionate guy. And I have a passion for storytelling. That kept me going. And I won't deny that I got lucky. Luck is a big part of it.

Q: Would you ever do another series or a spin-off?

A: Of course, if the story makes sense. I wouldn't do it just to make more money. I don't want to exploit the fans. But right now I'm just tired. I need a vacation and a very long nap to recharge the batteries.

Q: What will you be doing next?

A: Car detailing.

Q: You're joking, right?

A: Yes. But to be honest, I'm gainfully unemployed. I'll enjoy that for a bit.

CAROLINE KENNEDY ASSASSIN

Japanese Mafia is ta

Caroline Kennedy is the last surviving member of the Camelot clan that included brother John Jr., dad JFK and mom Jackie

A TERRIFYING plot by blood-thirsty Japanese gangsters to assassinate Caroline Kennedy as revenge against the U.S. government has thrown her famous family into turmoil.

Now friends and relatives are wondering if America's ambassador to the island nation – the last surviving child of President John F. Kennedy and his wife Jackie – will be the next victim of the death curse that has claimed generations of the powerful political clan.

After the courageous 57-year-old diplomat received a series of death threats, Tokyo police quietly revealed “Caroline is being targeted by yakuza, members of the country's ruthless Mafia,” says a source. “The gangs make up the world's largest criminal organization with over 45,000 members. And they're into everything from the trafficking of humans, weapons and drugs and prostitution to murder.”

And they're absolutely ruthless.

According to a Tokyo police source, one of the crime “families,” the Inagawa-kai, is out for blood after the U.S. Department of Treasury designated their boss, Kazuya Uchibori, an enemy of the American government.

And the Treasury imposed sanctions on another two of the underworld organization's top leaders that led to financial embarrassment for the gangster.

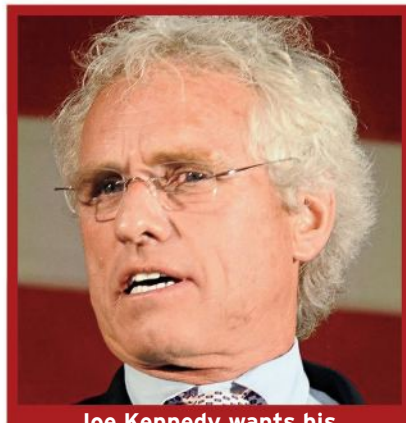

“These men are brutal and out for revenge,” the source says. “Taking down a member of one of America's leading families would be payback and send a blood-chilling message not to trifle with the outlaws.”

The assassination threats against Caroline were made over the telephone to the U.S. embassy by a man who spoke English with a Japanese accent. Caroline's in an incredibly dangerous situation, but she refuses to cower in terror or flee Japan, the source says. Her stubborn bravery is a nightmare for her relatives, says a family insider.

“It's brought back all the horror of her father and uncle Bobby being rubbed out by assassins' bullets – and they're petrified she'll be next,” says the insider.

Joe Kennedy wants his cousin to come home

NATION PLOT!

Targeting JFK's only surviving child

John F. Kennedy was all smiles as he rode through a Dallas motorcade in 1963 with wife Jackie. He was shot minutes later

Robert Kennedy was shot in L.A.

Though a target, Caroline continues to appear at events in Japan

Caroline has suffered the terrible loss of her father, John F. Kennedy, her uncle Robert and beloved brother John Jr.

"Her cousin, Joe Kennedy, has been begging her to come home where she can be protected.

"The family has long feared Caroline, being the most famous living Kennedy, would become a target.

"And Caroline well remembers her mother's warning that there will always be people out to kill Kennedys.

"Jackie told Caroline on her deathbed to always be vigilant and take threats seriously."

As a result, sources say Caroline is taking every precaution possible. But she is well aware her father and uncle were gunned down while surrounded by professional bodyguards. JFK was murdered in 1963 during a presidential motorcade in Dallas. His brother, Robert, was slain five years later in California during the Democratic presidential primary.

"The family is terrified Caroline will become the next victim of the Kennedy Curse," the insider says.

And now she finds herself in the crosshairs.

"Just in the last two weeks, she was informed by security about two distinct plots to get to her," the family friend tells GLOBE. "She's dealt with threats in the past, but with all the savagery going on around the world, she's taking it more seriously than ever. Her security detail is being doubled."

Ethel Kennedy is RFK's widow

Caroline's life is marked by tragedy. Her mother Jacqueline died from cancer in 1994, and she lost her brother John Jr. in a fatal plane crash in 1999. Favorite uncle Teddy Kennedy died from brain cancer in 2009.

And while she's close with several Kennedy family members, including her aunt Ethel, widow of Robert Kennedy, the friend tells GLOBE, "Caroline often feels quite alone in the world.

"She carries a mantle for a family that in many circles is still so revered, but at the same time, she carries the curse of her name and her legacy. She fears she's a target for crackpots and twisted political dissidents."

As a result, Caroline's move into the political arena has been slow and cautious.

She accepted the ambassador post in Japan in 2013. She has been very active travelling around the Asian country.

"Caroline has tried to live her life, not out of fear, but of conviction," the source says. "But having murderous gangsters gunning for you has to make your blood run cold."

WILL THE FAMILY CURSE STRIKE AGAIN?

LOSING MOM NEARLY KILLED TONY DANZA

TOUGH GUYS IN TEARS

Danza wipes his eyes on Dr. Oz's show as he recalls mom Anne (below)

● BENEATH his tough facade, Tony Danza is a real softie!

The boxer-turned-actor desperately tried to choke back tears on the Dr. Oz Show while talking about his late mother and the horrifying ski accident that nearly cost him his life.

Danza, 63, revealed he'd been thinking about his beloved mother Anne - who had died just six months earlier - when he crashed into a tree on the slopes of Utah's Deer Valley in 1993.

He was left in critical condition for nearly a month with a punctured lung, broken ribs and broken vertebrae.

"The reason I fell is because I lost my mother," Danza tearfully told Dr. Mehmet Oz. "I was thinking it was the first Christmas (without her), and I had her on my mind."

Danza, now starring in Honeymoon in Vegas on Broadway, remained visibly upset for five minutes, confessing, "I'm a bit of a crybaby."

BURT REYNOLDS WEEPS FOR LOST BUDDY NIMOY

● A VISIBLY shaken and frail Burt Reynolds - who made his mark in Hollywood playing rugged macho men - broke down in tears during an emotional public tribute to his recently deceased good pal, Leonard Nimoy.

His gravelly voice quivering with emotion, the 79-year-old Smokey and The Bandit legend struggled to keep his composure as he spoke of the Star Trek legend at Lynn University in Boca Raton, Fla.

"I just want to say something," said Reynolds, his voice trembling. "I talked to Leonard Nimoy the night before he passed away" on Feb. 27 in Los Angeles. "We were...two hours on the phone, talking about everything. He was a wonderful, wonderful friend...and I loved him very much."

Leonard Nimoy, best known as Star Trek's Mr. Spock, talked to Burt the night before he died

Reynolds ended with an apparent and unexpected jab at Nimoy's co-star, William "Captain Kirk" Shatner, who didn't attend Mr. Spock's funeral.

"We are going to miss him (Nimoy) a hell-of-a-lot more than the other guy," Reynolds said.

MAURY POVICH BABY SCANDAL!

TV talker Maury Povich

RATINGS junkie Maury Povich has been caught up in a sordid new scandal - and this time a dead baby, whose paternity was being questioned, is involved!

Just hours before they were scheduled to appear on Povich's TV talk show to learn the name of the baby daddy, a bickering couple found the 8-month-old dead in a Connecticut hotel room, authorities say.

The couple, whose names were not revealed by police, had flown from Ohio to Stamford, Conn., for a Maury episode. On the show, Povich was scheduled to reveal the results of DNA paternity tests. But the baby died the morning of taping after getting wedged between the wall and mattress in the hotel room, reports reveal.

The girl was discovered by her 27-year-old mother. A 25-year-old man believed to be the dad, who was staying in the same room, confirmed the tragic events to lawmen.

An autopsy ruled out neglect and physical or sexual abuse, but the cause of death has not been determined, officials say.

The dead baby scandal is far from the first for 76-year-old Povich's controversial syndicated talk show. In 2006, the weekday series was slapped with a $100 million sexual harassment lawsuit by then-28-year-old staffer Bianca Nardi.

In the suit, Nardi described "a Peyton Place lifestyle and a poisoned atmosphere" fed by "a long intimate and sexual relationship" between Povich - wed to Connie Chung for 29 years - and producer Donna Ingber, then 47.

LARRY KING: FREEZE ME WHEN I DIE!

LARRY KING wants to interview a Martian – and he's got a plan on how to do it!

No, the 81-year-old TV host isn't going soft in the head – at least not yet. But he has an idea on how to keep his career going after space travel is commonplace.

"I think I'd like to be frozen and that would be the only hope that I could come back," he explains. "If you died of lung cancer, and they cure it, they can unfreeze you and take away the cancer. Why not? It's better than being embalmed and put in the ground or being burned."

King explains how he wants his corpse prepared and kept on ice: "They inject you with a fluid that keeps certain things working even while you're dead, it keeps blood flowing." Once that happens, he says you're put "in a chamber" to wait for resurrection.

The newsman, who hosted Larry King Live on CNN for 25 years and now does a couple of Internet TV shows, adds that after he's revived, he'd like to pick up right where he left off.

"Yes, I'd want to interview people,"

Talker, 81, hopes to be brought back to life by future technology

Scientists in cryonics labs freeze body tissue without damage. The procedure costs more than $130,000

he says. "I'd want to interview the guy from Mars and go to other planets to ask questions."

"There will be shows from the moon. My God, would we travel electronically? Don't you wonder about these things?"

Freezing

King is serious enough about living forever that he's even checked out the price of immortality. He notes the freezing procedure costs $130,000, and his popsicle-like body would be stored in tubes in Arizona or New Hampshire.

He apparently has no fears about reawakening in a brave new world. And for a guy who's been married eight times – most recently to 55-year-old infomercial pitchwoman Shawn Engemann – the possibilities are endless.

"My wife says, 'What if you come back 200 years from now? You won't know anybody,'" he shares. "I say, 'I'll make new friends.'"

GAMBLER PERRY LOSES 10G BEFORE BREAKFAST!

OK, there's good news and bad news about Matthew Perry.

The bad news is he recently lost $10,000 playing poker in Tinseltown's Commerce Casino before breakfast.

The good news? The recovering boozier was drinking nothing but coffee. The other good news is that the 45-year-old actor has a $70 million fortune, thanks to his run on the wildly successful TV series Friends. So ten grand is just a drop in the bucket.

Perry, who plays Oscar Madison in the new CBS reboot of The Odd Couple, also reveals how lucky he was to even get a chance to audition for his role as Chandler on Friends back in 1994.

He was already committed to a FOX series called LAX 2194, which was about futuristic airport baggage handlers. Fortunately, he says execs let him go to the Friends audition after declaring that the show was "the worst thing we've ever seen in our lives."

TOO MUCH INFORMATION!

KIM KARDASHIAN'S KINKY KONFESSIONS!

JIMMY KIMMEL'S ICKY MAN TROUBLES

JEEZE, Jimmy, we know you make your living fronting a talk show, but some things are better left unsaid!

The host of ABC's late-nighter Jimmy Kimmel Live opened up about the "horrible, horrible process" of having TWO operations on his manhood - apparently not realizing hearing about it was just as horrible for his audience!

During a recent Texas event, the 47-year-old star waxed eloquent about surgeries to enlarge his "pee hole" after "it just kind of closed up on its own."

Oddly, Kimmel's cringe-worthy confession concerned procedures dating back to 2002. At the time, he went into even MORE detail about it with shock jock Howard Stern.

The first stab at solving the problem - which included an incision and four stitches - didn't work. So docs had to try again, using a "metal chopstick" to open things up.

And Kimmel recalls when he first went for treatment, his doctor took one look at him and proclaimed, "Wow, I've never seen one that small!" Of course, he was referring to Kimmel's constricted urethra! But frankly, the less we hear about it, the better!

If you haven't had enough of Kim Kardashian yet, this ought to do the trick!

On the premiere of the 10th season of Keeping Up With the Kardashians, the broad-bottomed reality diva babbles incessantly about her relentless efforts to get pregnant for the second time with her music mogul hubby Kanye West.

"Literally, I'm so exhausted," sighs Kim. "I've been having sex 500 times a day."

Literally, that works out to about once every three minutes, not including eating, sleeping and bathroom breaks. Speaking of bathrooms, kinky Kim confesses to having a quick romp in the lavatory during her latest nude photo shoot.

Getting pregnant

"I was like, 'I'm ovulating today,' so I made (Kanye) come to my photo shoot," she says.

"There's only a 20 percent chance of getting pregnant every month. So you gotta get it in when you can...!"

And Kim, mom of 21-month-old daughter North West, doesn't stop there. At another point in the show, she explains the finer points of getting pregnant to her sisters Kourtney, Khloe and Kendall while lying in bed.

"The doctor said when I have sex I have to lay down for, like, 10 to 20 minutes - and I just had sex before you guys got here, I swear," she shares. "He said it takes 10 minutes for the sperm to swim

Kim says she and Kanye have been trying hard to have a baby the old-fashioned way - but with no luck

Kim loves North, but admits 'pregnancy was not a good experience for me' up there. I'll wait, like, five more minutes for this to marinate... inside of me."

All we've got to say is: pass the remote, please!

BABY ON BOARD!

SHARK attack survivor Bethany Hamilton is still living on the edge – riding the waves while six months pregnant with hunky hubby Adam Dirks' kid! The gutsy gal who famously lost an arm to a 14-foot tiger shark in 2003 brings new meaning to the phrase "baby on board" as she hits the surf in Hawaii. And while some docs say the 25-year-old mom-to-be is taking unnecessary risks, Bethany believes that keeping active will help her deal with the physical demands of giving birth. In any case, it's a belly good show!

NBC's Dr. Snyderman lost credibility and Brian Williams (above) is on suspension for lying

DR. NANCY BUGS OUT AFTER EBOLA FIRESTORM

DISGRACED Dr. Nancy Snyderman is out as NBC's Chief Medical Editor after destroying her own credibility by leaving Ebola quarantine early to get soup!

And Snyderman's departure may be bad news for the peacock network's Nightly News anchor Brian Williams, who's on suspension for his own scandal - lying about his reporting.

Snyderman, 63, entered a voluntary 21-day quarantine after covering the Ebola epidemic in West Africa. But in November 2014, she got the munchies, left seclusion and went to a Hopewell, N.J., restaurant, sparking outrage for blatantly putting others at risk. The network had her take several weeks off.

Now, she's resigned and plans to join a medical school faculty. NBC insiders say she jumped just ahead of being fired. And fans aren't sad to see her go.

"About time! She has ZERO credibility after her 'Do as I say, not as I do' approach to medicine," blasts one Internet blogger. Another rips, "Never ever trust a 'Doctor' on TV!"

A third says, "Now do the same with Brian Williams. If you want to have high moral standards, you have to remove those who don't."

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For the week of April 6 – April 12

by Emily Hamer-West

ARIES March 21 - April 20

Family and friends often use the word “bossy” to describe you, but they’ll be glad you’re such a take-charge type after you step in and save the day during a relative’s crisis!

Seize the chance this weekend for some relaxation – after your busy week, you’ll need it! Saturday’s Capricorn moon spotlights bargains on home electronics and appliances.

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

The planets spotlight your compassion for the needy, and you could volunteer at a soup kitchen or animal shelter.

But take care to pay equal attention to loved ones at home, especially your partner, who could be struggling with hard times at work and craving extra affection. Mercury will see you get the answers you seek for nagging problems!

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

Avoiding a situation doesn’t make it go away, but facing it head-on won’t be as hard as you fear. Your recent efforts to trim down household costs gets a boost, and with couponing and shopping sales, you can save big at the grocery store. Single? Take a second look at someone you turned down for a date – there’s partner potential in this person!

CANCER June 22 - July 22

There’s a twinkle in your eye under the Scorpio moon, and if single, you’re looking very attractive to prospective partners, making it the perfect time to invite that special someone out on a date! Avoid burning the midnight oil, though. It’s better to adopt an early-to-bed routine so you can be ready for fun times ahead. The number five draws luck.

LEO July 23 - August 23

No point grumbling about work to be done, Leo. Keeping your nose to the grindstone early in the week will lead to free time later, and with Venus moving into Gemini, invitations are coming that you won’t want to miss! Tone down any irritation you feel on Tuesday. You’re tempted to speak your mind – and you might regret it!

CELEBRITY

CROWE
turns 51 on April 7

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

You’d like to race the clock and get everything on your list done this week but the cosmos says slow down! With Venus in Taurus, just give in and enjoy the calm before the storm – you can pick up the pace on Sunday! Clear any medical advice you get online with your doctor before trying it – it could be hazardous to your health!

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

You’re carrying more than your share at work or home and that leads to a cranky, fatigued Libra.

Saturn in Sagittarius offers the perfect chance for a getaway. Even if you only hide out at your favorite coffee shop or head to the library, some solitude works wonders! Check the credentials of anyone offering financial advice before you hand over your cash!

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

Stress eases, and for the first time in months you’re looking ahead with hope in your heart!

Good news concerning finance comes along when Saturn meets Mercury and it could help you fulfill a dream. A flirtation with a co-worker or neighbor could turn into something much more if you’re interested – but if you’re not, it’s best not to get too friendly!

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

Travel is on your mind and an opportunity to book a trip arises when Jupiter aligns with Mercury. It’s okay to get outside and be active – but be especially vigilant about staying hydrated and eating well. A planetary clash warns of growing over-tired. The weekend will see you learning something new – and meeting new friends, too!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

Love makes your heart go pitter-patter – someone you meet under the sultry Scorpio moon seems so interesting, you can’t look away! If single, this meeting holds the promise of a long future together! Balance the financial books this weekend. You could discover you’ve got more cash on hand than you thought – enough to pay off debts or for a splurge!

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

Job or money stress could spill over into your home life early in the week, but you could be taking it all too seriously. Something you learn under the Sagittarius moon turns your worries into anticipation of fun times ahead! Don’t be tempted to turn down a request to help with a neighborhood project. It could lead to friendship or even romance!

PISCES February 19 - March 20

It’s time for you to pull your blinders off, take a realistic look at what’s going on in your life and make much-needed changes. There’s someone close willing to lend a hand, and if you take heed of a Fire sign’s advice, life will soon get much better! Single Fish meet a potential mate at a weekend party, so get out and socialize!

LISTEN UP! HOW YOU CAN TREAT TINNITUS

TINNITUS can't be cured, but there are proven treatments to stop the maddening constant ringing in the ears!

According to the American Tinnitus Association, 50 million Americans suffer from the condition, called "head noise" by some.

"It can be extremely debilitating," says Dr. Howard Moskowitz, a leading otorhinolaryngologist and neurologist at New York's Montefiore Medical Center. "It can cause depression, insomnia and difficulties with work and family life."

Celebrities including Barbra Streisand, David Letterman, Steve Martin and Cher have been afflicted by the maddening constant ringing in the ears.

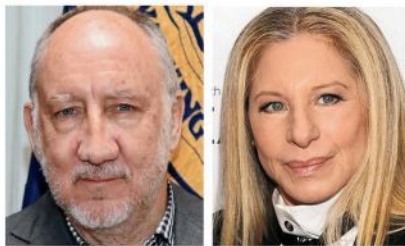

There are two major types of tinnitus: subjective and objective.

More common "subjective tinnitus" is believed to be caused by an abnormality in the ear or central nervous system. Only the person affected can hear the sounds, like hissing, ringing, buzzing, chirping or other noise.

It can be triggered by hearing loss due to aging, exposure to loud music, eating certain foods or taking medication. Musicians including Pete Townshend, Eric Clapton and Phil Collins have also revealed their battles with tinnitus.

"Objective tinnitus" involves head

Celebrities including Pete Townshend and Barbra Streisand have been afflicted by tinnitus

You should get ear-ringing checked out immediately and ear noises that are audible to others and comprise only five percent of cases. "You should seek medical help when the condition starts to interfere with your life or comes on suddenly," Moskowitz says. "In most cases, the physician will also conduct an audiogram to test your hearing level and perhaps laboratory tests and imaging studies such as MRI's or CT scans."

Although technically there's no cure for the disorder, there are treatments – sometimes a change of diet or medication will alleviate the symptoms.

For example, certain antibiotics, cancer medications, diuretics and antidepressants are linked to tinnitus. Sometimes ear wax blockage can cause ringing in the ears.

Tinnitus may improve with lifestyle modifications such as better sleep patterns and stress reduction techniques.

Treatment options include "masking" devices, like a white noise machine that plays falling rain, ocean waves or other soothing sounds to help you sleep at night. If the tinnitus stems from hearing loss, hearing aids can be helpful.

"Sometimes we need to treat the problem with behavior therapy or medication," says Moskowitz. "If the condition is causing anxiety or depression, group therapy or counseling can help."

Peanut butter KOs breast disease

+EATING peanut butter slashes the chances of getting benign breast disease by up to 68 percent, say experts! Women who enjoyed the creamy spread daily as a teen reduce their odds of developing the condition as an adult by a whopping 68 percent, says a study published in Breast Cancer Research and Treatment journal. That's important because women with benign breast disease have three times the risk of breast cancer as those without it.

Music eases dementia

+LISTENING to music allows dementia patients to perk up, according to University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee research. For the study, nursing homes provided iPods with personalized playlists to residents with dementia. Scientists tracked the elderly patients' interactions, sleep patterns and physical movement. Says study spearhead Dr. Jung Kwak, "You may see the immediate effects," including more interaction with other people, "but we don't yet know if it has longer-term effects."

Vitamins fight heart disease

+GREAT news for gals: taking a daily multivitamin and mineral supplement slashes the risk of heart disease by a solid 35 percent for women, but for men...not so much! While the lack of effect in guys is consistent with other research, the new study by the U.S. National Institutes of Health shows females do reap the benefits of taking vitamins for three years - and using them for longer may even boost the protection.

World Leading Expert Unveils Exciting News for People with Memory Loss

JFK Award Winner, Dr. Meir Shinitzky Uncovers Shocking New Nutrient that Restores Mental Clarity, Improves Focus and Impaired Memory

BY STEVEN WUZUBIA
HEALTH CORRESPONDENT;

Clearwater, Florida: Dr. Meir Shinitzky, Ph.D., is a former visiting professor at Duke University, recipient of the prestigious J.F. Kennedy Prize and author of more than 200 international scientific papers on human body cells. But now he's come up with what the medical world considers his greatest accomplishment-- A vital compound, so powerful, it's reported to repair... even regrow damaged brain cells. In layman's terms -- Bring back your memory power. And leave you feeling more focused and clear-headed than you have in years!

Dr. Shinitzky explains this phenomenon in simple terms; "Science has shown when your brain nutrient levels drop, you can start to experience memory problems and overall mental fatigue. Your ability to concentrate and stay focused becomes compromised. And gradually, a "mental fog" sets in. It can damage every aspect of your life". Not only do brain cells die but they become dysfunctional as if they begin to fade away as we age. This affects our ability to have mental clarity and focus and impacts our ability to remember things that were easy for us to do in our 20's and 30's.

Why Now, Why So Fuzzy?

Scientists think the biggest cause of brain deterioration in older people is the decreased functioning of membranes and molecules that surround the brain cells. These really are the transmitters that connect the tissues or the brain cells to one another that help us with our sharp memory, clear thinking and mental focus, even our powers to reason well. "When we are in our 20's" according to Dr. Shinitzky "our body produces key substances like phosphatidylserine and phosphatidic acid" ....unfortunately they are believed to be critical essential nutrients that just fade away with age, much like our memories often do leading to further mental deterioration.

As we get older it becomes more frustrating as there is little comfort when you forget names... misplace your keys... or just feel "a little confused". And even though your foggy memory gets laughed off as just another "senior moment", it's not very funny when it keeps happening to you.

The Missing Link is Found and Tested

It's hard to pronounce that's for sure, but it certainly appears from the astounding clinical research that this one vital nutrient phosphatidylserine (PS) can really make a huge difference in our mental wellness. 17 different double blind studies with placebo controlled groups have been involved in the clinical research of PS with patients between the ages of 55-80 years of age. Periodically the researchers gave these patients memory and cognitive tests and the results were simply amazing:

- 1) PS patients outperformed placebo patients in All 5 Tests - 100% Success Rate
- 2) After only 45 days there was a measurable improvement in mental function
- 3) After 90 days, there was an impressive and amazing improvement in mental function

The group taking phosphatidylserine, not only enjoyed sharper memory, but listen to this... they were also more upbeat and remarkably more happy. In contrast, the moods of the individuals who took the placebo (starch pill), remained unaffected....no mental or mood improvement at all.

Unblock Your Brain

This incredible PS nutrient feeds your brain the vital nutrient it needs to stay healthy... PS now has the attention of some of the world's most prominent brain experts. It has been written up and published in leading science and medical journals and its findings have electrified the International scientific community.

My Memory Was Starting to Fail Me.

I would forget all kinds of things and something that I just said earlier in the day would have completely slipped my mind. Over the last several months my memory was getting pretty unreliable and I was worried about it. I thought I'd better do something about it now. I read about Lipogen and wanted to try it. It's great! I have actual recall now, which is super. I began to notice that I wasn't forgetting things anymore. Thanks Lipogen for giving me my memory back. It's given me back self-confidence and self-esteem. I would not trust my memory without it.

Earth-shaking Science

Published, clinical reports show replenishing your body's natural supply of Phosphatidylserine, not only helps sharpen your memory and concentration— but also helps "perk you up" and put you in a better mood. PS as it turns out also helps to reduce everyday stress and elevate your mood by lowering your body's production of the hormone cortisol. When cortisol levels are too high for too long you experience fatigue, bad moods and weakness. This drug-free brain-boosting formula enters your bloodstream fast (in as little as thirty minutes).

Officially Reviewed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration: Lipogen PS Plus safety has been reviewed by the Food & Drug Administration. Lipogen PS Plus is the ONLY Health Supplement that has a "Qualified Health Claim for both Cognitive Dysfunction and Dementia".

Special "See For Yourself" Risk-Free Supply

We've made arrangements with the distributor of this proprietary blend of PS, which combines with several other proven special brain boosting natural ingredients to give you the mental clarity and memory gain that you need, to give you a Risk-Free trial supply. This is a special "Readers Only Discount". This trial is 100% risk-free.

It's a terrific deal. If Lipogen PS Plus doesn't help you think better, remember more... and improve your mind, clarity and mood – you won't pay a penny! (less s&h). But you must act fast. Your order can only be guaranteed if it comes in within the next 7-days. After that, supplies could run out. And your order may not be fulfilled until they are replenished.

So don't wait. Now you can join the thousands of people who think better, remember more—and enjoy clear, "fog-free" memory. Call today, toll-free at 1-800-423-7203. Think of it as making a "wake-up call" to your brain.

REHAB IS LIZA'S LAST CHANCE!

Liza's pals fear the 69-year-old star won't make it to 70

Minnelli fighting same demons that killed mom Judy

TROUBLED Liza Minnelli is taking yet another stab at rehab – and if it doesn't work out this time, friends fear she'll end up dying like her drug-addicted mother, Judy Garland.

"Those of us in Liza's inner circle have renewed fears she'll end up overdosing like her mom," confides a close friend of the 69-year-old Cabaret star. "Her life has been a mess with drugs and alcohol on and off since her Studio 54 days in the '70s.

"Her pattern is just like Judy's. The sad thing is, despite many desperate efforts, she just can't seem to break it. You'd think seeing her mother dead so young would have served as a severe warning. But Liza's been traveling down that same path for decades – and she can't seem to escape it."

This will be Liza's fifth time in rehab. She first entered California's Betty Ford Center in 1984, went to a Hazelden facility the following year, did an outpatient gig at New York's Smither's Alcoholism Center in 1999 and checked into Pennsylvania's Caron Foundation Rehab Center in 2001.

Meanwhile, her other health problems are almost as legendary as her career! She's had both hips replaced, was hit with double pneumonia in 2000, battled viral encephalitis a few months later, broke a kneecap in 2003, fractured her wrist in three places in a 2013 fall and underwent back surgery last year.

Liza performed with mom Judy Garland on her TV show in 1963

'Her body has been breaking down for years'

Furthermore, a lifelong smoking habit has made it difficult for her to sing! A pal says, "She gasps and has to take little breaks even when she's just speaking."

Incredibly, Liza turned down a $1 million payday to do a cough drops commercial after suffering an anxiety attack. Sources say she refused to leave her New York apartment.

She's also been married four times and, frighteningly, seems to be following in the tragic footsteps of her mom. The Wizard of Oz legend suffered nervous breakdowns, suicide attempts, booze and pill addictions and five troubled marriages. Her life ended with a fatal overdose at age 47.

Liza - dancing with Mikhail Baryshnikov - was a fixture at Studio 54 in the '70s

"It's unbelievable Liza's made it this long," says the friend. "But we fear she won't see 70."

"She's been out of control for much of her life. She'll stop abusing for a short while then falls right back into that same dangerous lifestyle."

"When she's sober, you can reason with her. When she's not, no one can talk to her. Getting her into rehab this time wasn't easy. It basically came down to telling her that if she didn't go, she'd be found dead just like her mom."

"She reluctantly gave in, but even she knows this is her last shot. Her career has fallen apart, just like her marriages. Much of it is due to drugs, alcohol and the bad choices she's made while under the influence."

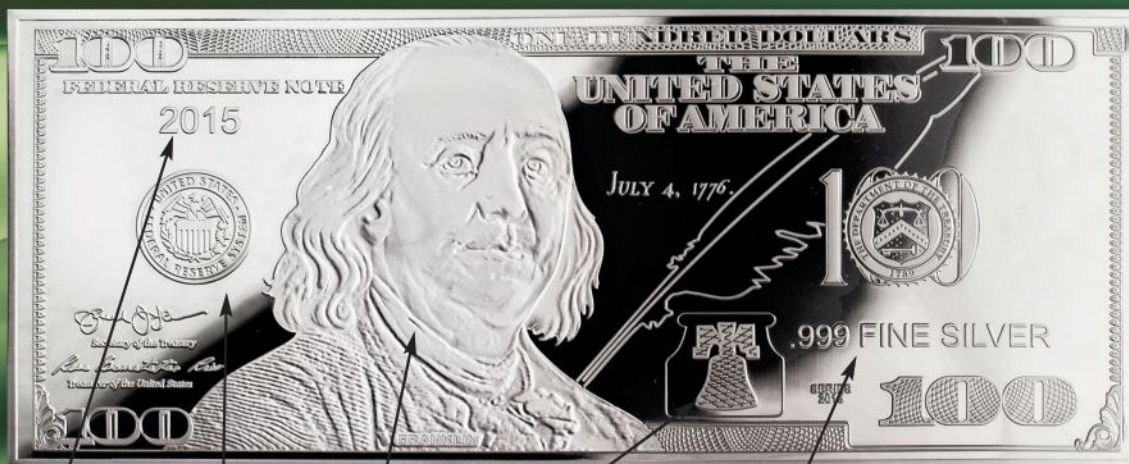

"She can't go on like this anymore. Her body has been breaking down for years. There's a limit to just how much it can take - and we believe she's reached it."

"If she doesn't beat her addictions this time around, we fear it's all over for her."

BERRY LOSES HER EXTANT HUBBY

HUNKY Goran Visnjic has been given the boot by the summer sci-fi drama Extant starring Hollywood beauty Halle Berry in a major cast shake-up.

On the bright side, though, Grey's Anatomy heartthrob Jeffrey Dean Morgan is joining the show as Berry's possible new love interest.

Although Visnjic played a central role in the first season as Berry's robotics engineer husband, John Woods, the former ER actor will only return for a couple of episodes before he's written out.

Camryn Manheim, who plays Berry's friend and co-worker Sam Barton, will also appear briefly before making a departure.

But Berry is returning as stunning astronaut Molly Woods, who mysteriously became pregnant with an alien baby while she was in outer space.

Morgan's character, JD Richter, is a roguish womanizer who makes his living as a mercenary and bounty hunter.

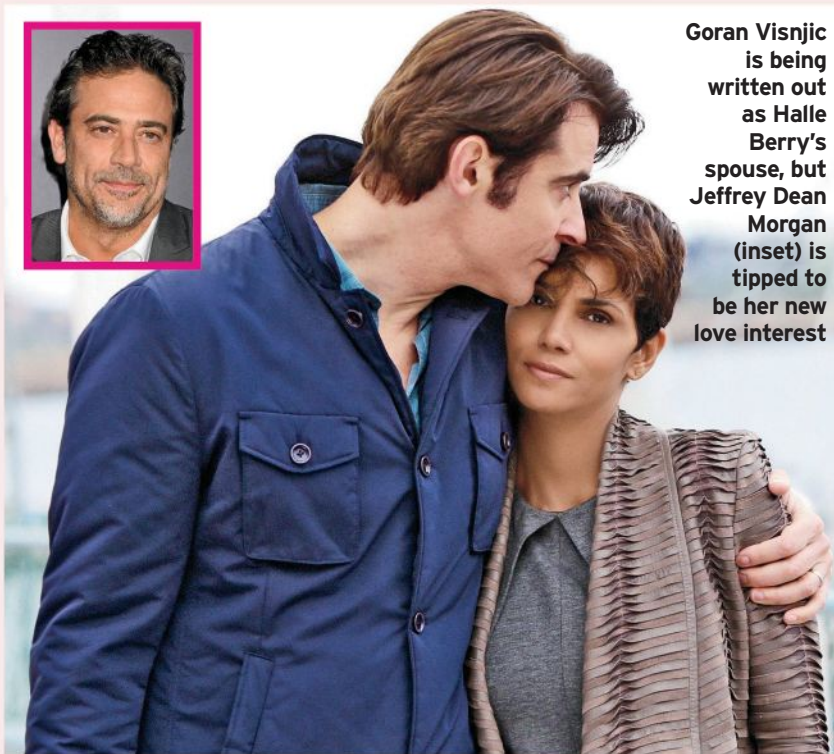

He's hard-drinking, fearless and reckless, mainly because he's got nothing to lose. Richter thinks he's seen it all until Molly enters his life and he's instantly captivated.

Morgan, who's been cast as baseball star Joe DiMaggio in Lifetime's impending miniseries Marilyn, also has a major role in the upcoming History Channel miniseries Texas Rising and will next be seen on the big screen in Bus 657 with Robert DeNiro.

The news of Morgan's casting

Goran Visnjic is being written out as Halle Berry's spouse, but Jeffrey Dean Morgan (inset) is tipped to be her new love interest and Visnjic's exit sits well with fans.

"Goran Visnjic is a fine actor, but he had no chemistry with Berry," posts one on the Internet. "Hopefully, Morgan will have either romantic or a playful, platonic chemistry."

Another says, "Morgan might make watching season two interesting. He's a far more compelling lead than Visnjic."

Meanwhile, Pierce Gagnon, who plays Molly's android son, and Meryl Streep's daughter Grace

Gummer, who portrays assistant Julie Gelineau, are returning, and getting more screen time.

The cast changes stem from the CBS show's new story line which centers on Molly's desperate attempt to track down her alien son who is threatening the human race.

CBS entertainment chief Nina Tassler says, "We are making changes in terms of the mythology of the show. Molly is much more proactive after the threat to her world."

WASHINGTON'S IN HILL SCANDAL

SCANDAL star Kerry Washington is set to play controversial figure Anita Hill in a TV movie about the confrontational confirmation hearings of Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas.

The HBO film, Confirmation, will chronicle the televised nomination proceedings in 1991 that shocked the nation.

Hill, a lawyer, claimed Thomas had sexually harassed her while he was her supervisor at the Department of Education.

Kerry will portray Anita Hill (above)

Hill said Thomas asked her out several times, made lewd sexual comments, and even described his "sexual prowess" and graphic details of his anatomy. She famously alleged that he also made a sexual remark about a Coke can.

"The hearings forever changed the way people think about sexual harassment, victims' rights and modern-day race relations," a source said.

Washington, who plays political fixer Olivia Pope in the ABC hit Scandal, is also lined up for the movie Is He the One? this summer.

'BAD' ACTRESS IN 'MINDS' SPINOFF

BREAKING BAD beauty Anna Gunn (right) has joined the star-studded cast of the new Criminal Minds spinoff pilot.

The 46-year-old actress, who played Walter White's wife, Skyler, will star opposite CSI: NY actor Gary Sinise and Walking Dead's Tyler James Williams. The global thriller, which will air as a backdoor pilot on a Minds episode this season, focuses on a division of the FBI that plies its expertise in foreign countries.

Gunn will play Ally Lambert, an international legal expert who's brought on board the new FBI squad to keep the bad guys from escaping the clutches of police abroad by employing highly-paid attorneys.

Three years ago, the CBS crime drama tried to spinoff a show called Criminal Minds: Suspect Behavior starring Forest Whitaker and Janeane Garofalo, but it only lasted half a season.

THE toilets, er, tables, were turned on notorious prankster Howie Mandel – his California mansion got “decorated” with more than 4,000 rolls of bathroom tissue!

The hilarious feat was the brainchild of Mandel’s friend and self-described professional prankster Roman Atwood, who enlisted the help of the 59-year-old comic’s son, Alex Mandel, 25, to pull off the amazing achievement.

As the America’s Got Talent judge was flying home from New York, a truck dumped the massive haul of toilet paper at his home in an exclusive gated community near L.A.

Sea of white paper

With video cameras rolling, Atwood and others hurled roll after roll onto the roof until the home was shrouded in a sea of wavy white paper.

Mandel arrived home, but initially failed to find the humor in it, dropped a string of expletives as he grappled with how the stunt happened and how he’d handle the gargantuan cleanup.

“Oh, my God. How do you get into a gated community?” the former Deal or No Deal host asked. “How do you clean this up? How do you even get in the house?”

Finally, Atwood appeared – and Mandel finally saw the funny side.

The bald entertainer got into a toilet paper tossing fight with his friend, who offered to help clean up the mess. A cleaning crew was ultimately brought in.

Claiming he’s never toilet-papered a house before, Atwood

Son Alex (left) helped prank prankster Mandel, who, at first, was outraged says he targeted Mandel because of his friendship and his chance to one-up him at his own game.

Mandel brought TBS viewers the hidden-camera show Deal With It, in which everyday people are dared to pull a series of escalating pranks on unwitting companions.

“To be honest I wanted to do a very big toilet paper prank,” says Atwood. “I was able to talk Alex into getting me in the community and he was also able to talk his mother (Howie’s wife Terry) into playing along.

“Howie’s a legendary prankster and it’s always good to prank a prankster.”

WHY RUMER’S PROUD OF HER PARENTS

RUMER WILLIS is grateful to her famous folks, Bruce Willis and Demi Moore, for keeping their family whole even as they were splitting up!

Willis, 60, and 52-year-old Demi stayed friendly through the breakup of their 13-year marriage. Amazingly, the Die Hard star even attended Demi’s 2005 wedding to Ashton Kutcher, who has since divorced the G.I. Jane stunner.

Rumer says she’s proud of her parents for protecting their kids, which include her sisters Tallulah and Scout, from any bitter fallout from their 2000 divorce.

“I was 10 at the time they broke up,” recalls Rumer, now a 26-year-old contestant on Dancing with the Stars. “I never had to split vacations or birthdays. They always made an effort to do all of the family events still together as one unit, as opposed to two separate things, which really made an impact.”

BANDERAS STUDYING FASHION DESIGN!

MOVIE star Antonio Banderas reveals he's moving to London to go back to school.

"I am going to study clothing design," says the macho 54-year-old Spanish heartthrob, who ended his 19-year marriage to actress Melanie Griffith last summer.

"It's something that's been on my mind for a long time and probably one of the best schools is in London, St. Martin's University, and so I am going to start studying with them.

"Of course, I won't stop my professional life, I'll continue acting, directing but this is a new thing."

And starting his own brand of clothing could be the perfect complement to another of his ventures. Banderas has more than 40 perfumes in his line of men's and women's fragrances that he personally smell-tests before they go on sale.

The savvy businessman also owns a 50 percent stake in Spain's Anta Banderas winery, which specializes in red wine and rose.

MACHO CHUCK NORRIS HAS WRITE STUFF!

And he's THROWING
THE BOOK
at Obama

HOLLYWOOD tough guy Chuck Norris has decided the pen is mightier than his fists! He's traded beating up bad guys on TV and the big screen for writing.

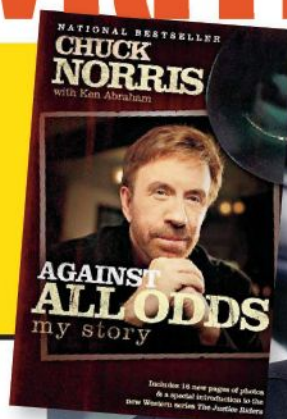

Since his huge hit TV crime series Walker, Texas Ranger ended its nine-year run in 2001, Norris has appeared in just three movies, a Walker adventure, The Cutter and The Expendables 2, in 2012.

Now, the macho man, who turned 75 last month, is devoting himself to writing books and online columns on politics and fitness while raising 13-year-old twins Dakota and Danilee with wife Gena on a ranch near Houston.

He and Gena also contribute time to The Kickstart Foundation which gives kids marital arts training and has become part of the curriculum at Texas middle schools.

The Delta Force star has also found time to pen an autobiography, Against All Odds, the political tome Black Belt Patriotism: How to Reawaken America and two novels.

And he writes a syndicated weekly fitness column called C-Force, and shares his political insights in articles for the Internet WorldNet Daily where a favorite target is President Barack Obama.

Norris is no fan of the President's liberal politics

The former karate champ clobbers Obama for refusing to stand up for traditional American values and being gutless during the many crises confronting the nation.

"Chuck's never been shy about sharing his opinions – but Obama's presidency and policies are giving him fits!" says a Hollywood source.

Terrorists

"He blames Obama for the ills afflicting our country, from a lack of godliness to Obamacare to how the President deals with terrorists – and he's shouting about it from his own bully pulpit.

"He believes the country needs strong leadership, not Obama's namby-pamby liberal policies!"

Not surprisingly, the Man in the Oval Office has taken notice of the Octagon legend. "Chuck's constant rants have become a thorn in the President's side," says a White House source.

"Every time Norris goes on the attack against the President, mail and phone calls flood the White House with thousands agreeing with Chuck. Obama just wishes Norris would go away."

But that's not going to happen anytime soon. His popularity is soaring with a macho joked-filled Twitter account called "chuck facts," which has 270,000 followers.

Norris admits he finds the jokes amusing and reveals his favorite "fact" is: "They wanted to put Chuck Norris's face on Mount Rushmore, but the granite wasn't hard enough for his beard."
